BIOGRAPHY OF DONALD HUGHES

Don Hughes joined the CIA in 2000 where he worked in the CIA's Congressional Affairs office facilitating the Agency's efforts to keep Congress informed of CIA activities and respond to requests from Capitol Hill. Hughes is a retired Army officer whose assignments included stints with the 1st Infantry Division, 101st Airborne Division, and 7th Infantry Division. He also served as a Political/Military Intelligence Analyst in the Pentagon and four years as a Military Attache' overseas. Hughes worked several years in the private sector for a large U.S. electronics firm prior to joining the CIA. Hughes has a bachelor degree in psychology from Lafayette College in Pennsylvania and a master degree in International Policy Studies from the Monterey Institute of International Studies in California.

THE CIA OFFICER-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM

The CIA Officer-In-Residence program has existed more than 20 years on college campuses nationwide and is designed to contribute to the study of national security issues while providing a real world practical prospective on intelligence-related matters. The OU College of Continuing Education is currently sponsoring Hughes and the CIA OIR program. Through the Officer-in-Residence program, Mr. Hughes will spend two years on the University of Oklahoma campus and serve as a resource for students, faculty and administrators as a visiting professor, panel guest, team teacher and collaborator with other faculty members on national security related topics.
